OPENING ADDRESS BY
THE HONOURABLE DATUK ONG TEE KEAT
MINISTER OF TRANSPORT, MALAYSIA
AT THE FIRST COOPERATION FORUM UNDER THE COOPERATIVE MECHANISM ON SAFETY OF NAVIGATION AND ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION IN THE STRAITS OF MALACCA AND SINGAPORE,

THE GRAND MILLENIUM HOTEL, KUALA LUMPUR
27 MAY 2008

Y. Bhg. Dato’ Captain Ahmad Othman,

Head of Delegation of Malaysia

Mr. Yuri Gunadi,
Director,
Directorate General of Sea Transportation,
Head of Delegation of the Republic of Indonesia.

BG (NS) Tay Lim Heng,
Chief Executive Maritime and Port Authority of Singapore,
Head of Delegation of the Republic of Singapore.

Excellencies, Distinguished Delegates,

Ladies and Gentlemen,

A very good morning and to all our overseas participants, I wish you Selamat Datang!

Firstly, allow me to express my gratitude to the organizer for inviting me to be here at this important Cooperation Forum on the Straits of Malacca and Singapore. I am indeed happy to be part of this momentous occasion and to be among eminent people in the maritime industry from many parts of the world.

I am delighted to know that there are more than 50 delegates representing more than 25
States and organizations at this first Cooperation Forum. I find this most encouraging not merely for your attendance but most importantly for your continued willingness to lend support to the littoral States and to the Cooperative Mechanism in our efforts to enhance safety of navigation and environmental protection in the Straits.

Ladies and Gentlemen,

You may recall that the establishment of the Cooperative Mechanism initiative took a long consultation process between the littoral States and user States and relevant stakeholders including the participation of the International Maritime Organisation (IMO), through the Jakarta Meeting in 2005, the Kuala Lumpur Meeting in 2006 and was eventually agreed upon during the Singapore Meeting in 2007. We now know that the Cooperative Mechanism to enhance safety of navigation and environmental protection in the Straits is historically a significant achievement in marking the implementation of Article 43 of the United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea (or UNCLOS) some 26 years after its adoption in 1982. Thus a formal mechanism is established to promote voluntary cooperation between users of the Straits and the littoral States.

Significantly, this meeting marks the start of the Cooperation Forum which is one element of the Cooperative Mechanism to foster cooperation between the littoral States, users of the Straits and other stakeholders. The objective of this Forum is for participants to discuss and exchange ideas to enhance safety and environmental protection in the Straits and for its continued use for shipping. I believe the Forum provides a perfect opportunity for all interested parties to openly discuss views and ideas about something that is of great importance to all of us.

In Dato’ Captain Ahmad’s speech earlier, he mentioned that Malaysia has just hosted the first meeting of the Aids to Navigation Fund, which is another important element of the Cooperative Mechanism recently in Penang. Malaysia will host the Fund for the next 3 years. I am heartened to learn that at that meeting, a number of firm commitments were made by the Republic of Korea, United Arab Emirates, the Middle East Navigation Aids Service and the Nippon Foundation to contribute to the Fund. I hope such voluntary benevolence will not only continue but also encourage others to do the same so that the objectives of the Fund are able to be achieved.

The third element of the Cooperative Mechanism which is of no less important is the implementation of projects. I understand that while a number of States have already pledged their commitments to support the projects that were agreed upon, there are still a number of projects that remain in the balance. Thus, I sincerely urge user States and others to give serious consideration to these projects with the intent of supporting and ensuring their implementation. I have been informed that immediately after this Cooperation Forum, the Project Coordination Committee Meeting will be held. Thus, I encourage sponsors and potential sponsors to sit down with the littoral States to discuss plans and measures to implement those projects and I certainly look forward to hearing a good report after the meeting.

In this connection, apart from the States that I mentioned earlier, similar acknowledgement should also be given to Japan who has never stopped contributing for the last 30 years. Similarly we should acknowledge Australia, China, Greece and the United States who have made commitments to cooperate in various forms with the littoral States. I look forward to the finalisation of these commitments by these States so that projects already identified could be implemented accordingly.

Ladies and gentlemen,

The Cooperative Mechanism reflects our desire to enhance safety of navigation and preserve the marine environment in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore as well as show our ability to work together to realise Article 43 of UNCLOS. The Straits of Malacca and Singapore is one of the busiest waterways in the world. It has been reported that a quarter of the world’s seaborne trade and a quarter of all oil shipments carried by sea pass through the Straits every year. It was also estimated that more than 12 million barrels of oil pass through the Straits on a daily basis. These facts represent a significant amount of traffic and certainly a huge amount of oil carried through the Straits. In monetary terms and based on today’s oil price this amounts to about US$1.5 billion of oil passing through the Straits on a daily basis, which turns out to be about US$550 billion a year. This perfectly sums up the magnitude of the importance of the Straits to the world’s economy.

The Marine Department of Malaysia’s record shows that in 2007 more than 70,000 reports were recorded from ships transiting through the Strait of Malacca and the trend is increasing. The trend calls for the need for an efficient traffic management so that safety of ships passing through the Straits is at all times assured. To a littoral State like Malaysia, not only such a need is imperative, it is also crucial to ensure the sensitive ecosystem in the Straits is well protected. Any shipping incident that results in a major oil incident from ships will have catastrophic consequences that will not only destroy the marine environment but will also devastate the livelihood of thousands that populate the coastline along the Straits which depend on the sea for their well being.

Having stressed the importance of keeping the Straits safe and incident free, it was reported that the number of shipping incidents has been low for the last few years. For the whole of 2007, a total of 5 shipping incidents were recorded in the Straits. I am also thankful that there has been no significant oil spill incident in the Straits since the Singapura Timur incident in 2001. This only goes to demonstrate the effective safety of navigation measures that the three littoral States have put in place in the Straits.

Malaysia is committed and will take every effort to continue to keep the Straits safe and open to shipping. However, we realise that we may not be able to do this on our own. Instead, we are convinced that cooperation from the other littoral states, users and other stakeholders in maintaining the safety of navigation in the Straits will help us achieve this aim. In enhancing our commitment, we are prepared to take the first step and play a leading role in promoting such cooperation and the success of the Cooperative Mechanism. We are well aware that as a littoral State, we have first responsibility to ensure the Straits is safe and secure for shipping.

Ladies and gentlemen

It is incomplete if I don’t extend my thanks and gratitude to the IMO for its continued support to the three littoral States, its contribution since 2004 and its advice in organizing the implementation of the Cooperative Mechanism. I was informed that the Secretary General of IMO has already made plans to explore ways to attract more contributions from other users of the Straits and I look forward to having positive results in that front. I should also add that IMO played a major role in the implementation of the Marine Electronic Highway Demonstration Project for the Straits of Malacca and Singapore (or the MEH Demonstration Project). The pilot project, a first of its kind in the world, was developed by IMO in cooperation with the littoral States and funded by the Global Environment Facility of the World Bank and the Republic of Korea, and is now in the implementation stage. The MEH project will have specific role in the context of the many programmes and initiatives under the Cooperative Mechanism.

Before I conclude, I would like to take this opportunity to express Malaysia’s appreciation to our littoral States partners: Indonesia and Singapore for their role in making the implementation of the Cooperative Mechanism a success and in particular in convening this inaugural Cooperation Forum. I would also like to thank the user States, other users and stakeholders for your continued support and in particular those who have made firm commitments to contribute to the projects or to the Aids to Navigation Fund.

Last but not least, I wish you a very fruitful discussion and successful first Cooperation Forum. I look forward to advancing and strengthening the ties of cooperation between the littoral States and users of the Straits through the newly-established Cooperative Mechanism. I would also like to encourage you to savour the sights and sound of Kuala Lumpur in your free time. It is therefore with great pleasure that I hereby declare open the first Cooperation Forum under the Cooperative Mechanism on Safety of Navigation and Environmental Protection in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore.

Thank you.

The Honourable Datuk Ong Tee Keat, Minister of Transport, Malaysia

Mr. Yuri Gunadi,
Director,
Directorate General of Sea Transportation,
Head of Delegation of the Republic of Indonesia

BG (NS) Tay Lim Heng,
Chief Executive Maritime and Port Authority of Singapore,
Head of Delegation of the Republic of Singapore

Excellencies, Fellow Delegates, Ladies and Gentlemen

I wish all of you a Very Good Morning

First and foremost, I would like to extend my warm welcome and sincere appreciation to the Honourable Datuk Ong Tee Keat, Minister of Transport Malaysia who has agreed to take some time away from his busy schedule to be with us here this morning. I am sure your presence with us this morning adds further significance to this already very auspicious occasion. I should also add that you are certainly in very good company of “who’s who” in international shipping.

Looking at the attendance, I am very encouraged not only in terms of the number of participants but also from the interest shown by both user States and industry groups. I am sure this augurs well for the future of cooperation that we are all seeking to enhancing safety and environmental protection in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore (or Straits). I am also grateful for those of you who have continued to support this cause ever since the issue of safety, security and environmental protection in the Straits was first introduced in the 93rd IMO Council in 2004 under the agenda of “Protection of vital shipping lanes”.

You will recall that this agenda was quickly started off with the IMO co-sponsored Jakarta Meeting in 2005, the Kuala Lumpur Meeting in 2006 and culminated in the endorsement of the Cooperative Mechanism in the Singapore Meeting in 2007. Even if I may say so myself, the acceptance of the Cooperative Mechanism within such a short period of time of its introduction was truly remarkable. This just goes to show the importance of the Straits to many people around the globe. Be they user States, ship owners or traders, the well being of the Straits and that it should remain safe and open for navigation figure highly for their economic well being.

Honourable Minister, Excellencies, Ladies and gentlemen

Speaking on behalf of the host country, Malaysia, I am very pleased that we have managed to organize this first Cooperation Forum under the Cooperative Mechanism on safety of navigation and environmental protection in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore. I hope this grand venue fits the significance of the occasion. This Cooperation Forum marks yet another milestone in fostering cooperation and burden sharing between the littoral States and users of the Straits. Perhaps even more significant, this also illustrates a momentous step forward in implementing the intent and spirit of Article 43 of the United Nation Convention of the Law of the Sea (or UNCLOS). After years of talk we are finally implementing what was codified under international law some 26 years ago.

For your information we will also hold the first Project Coordination Committee meeting immediately after the Cooperation Forum on 29 May 2008. At this meeting the three littoral States will be sitting with sponsors to discuss and coordinate the implementation of projects already identified. This further underscores the positive development for cooperation between the littoral States and users of the Straits.

In addition and in line with our obligation as the first host of the Aids to Navigation Fund, we convened the first Aids to Navigation Committee meeting in April this year. The meeting was well attended by contributors, namely; Republic of Korea, United Arab Emirates, the Middle East Navigation Aids Service (or MENAS) and the Nippon Foundation. I am pleased to say that activities under the Aids to Navigation Fund are already being planned for full implementation by early next year.
Honourable Minister, Excellencies, Ladies and gentlemen,

The main objective of Cooperative Mechanism is to promote dialogue and facilitate close cooperation between the littoral States, user States, shipping industry and other stakeholders. You will recall that the Cooperative Mechanism comprises of three components-

- The Cooperation Forum for open dialogues and discussions;

- Project Co-ordination Committee on the implementation of projects in co-operation with sponsoring users; and

- Aids to Navigation Fund to receive direct financial contribution for renewal and maintenance of aids to navigation.

As we embark on the first Cooperation Forum today, it is my hope that there will be useful exchange of ideas between the littoral States, user states, the shipping industry and other stakeholders. The Cooperation Forum should be utilised as the platform for us to promote concrete and practical cooperation among ourselves to enhance safety and safeguard the environment in the Straits. We should work towards better understanding of each other, particularly in ensuring the safe passage of ships through the Straits. We should also be prepared to explore options of cooperation including the implementation of projects presented by the littoral States during Kuala Lumpur Meeting in 2006.

Honourable Minister, Excellencies, Ladies and gentlemen,

Before I conclude, allow me to extend my appreciation to my colleagues from Indonesia and Singapore for their long standing cooperation, support and contribution in making this Cooperation Forum possible and most of all for cooperating in the implementation of the Cooperative Mechanism. I would also like to thank the IMO for its continued support not only in attending the meetings we organized but also for working tirelessly in promoting the Cooperative Mechanism to potential contributors. I would also like to extend my gratitude to the team that has organized this meeting, for their hard work and untiring effort in ensuring the success of the first Cooperation Forum. I should also once again thank you, Honourable Minister for taking the time to grace this profoundly meaningful occasion this morning.

I hope we have provided you with a good venue for our first forum and I look forward to have a fruitful discussion in the forum; and lastly I wish all of you a pleasant, enjoyable and memorable stay in vibrant Kuala Lumpur.

Thank you.

HELD AT THE GRAND MILLENIUM HOTEL, KUALA LUMPUR
27 TO 28 MAY 2008

His Excellency, Datuk Ong Tee Keat, Minister of Transport, Malaysia

Dato’ Captain Ahmad Othman,
Director General, Marine Department, Peninsular Malaysia

Pak Yuri Gunadi, Director of Navigation,
Directorate General for Sea Transportation, Indonesia

Distinguished delegates, Ladies and Gentlemen,

I am pleased to be speaking on behalf of the delegation of Singapore at this very significant event.

Let me start by saying that it is heartening to see the quick progress which the Co-operative Mechanism has made since its launch in Singapore in September last year. This was warmly welcomed at the 25th IMO Assembly as a successful outcome of the IMO’s initiative in the Straits. Together with the other two littoral States, Indonesia and Malaysia, I wish to take this opportunity to express appreciation towards those which have actively supported and participated in the Co–operative Mechanism - China, the United States, Japan, the Republic of Korea, the United Arab Emirates as well as Greece. Without their strong support at the initial stages of development, the Co-operative Mechanism would not have been successfully brought to fruition. I am glad that their active participation in the Co-operative Mechanism has continued. We look forward to working further with them on the important task of keeping the Straits safe and clean for international shipping. In this light, I would like to encourage other user States and stakeholders which have yet to come onboard to similarly join them to contribute to the Co-operative Mechanism.

Last month, we witnessed the inauguration of the Aids to Navigation Fund, one of the three components of the Co-operative Mechanism. At the launch, a number of parties stepped forward to commit their pledges of contributions to the Fund. I wish to commend these contributing states and organizations, namely the Republic of Korea, the United Arab Emirates, and the Nippon Foundation for doing so. There was also a new addition to the list of contributors to the Fund, namely the Middle East Navigation Aids Services. Further to this, China and Japan are seriously considering contributing to the Fund. I would like to thank them for their generous support.

The Co-operation Forum and the inaugural meeting of the Project Co-ordination Committee to be held over the next few days will see progress being made on all 3 components of the Co-operative Mechanism. The presence of representatives from many user States and stakeholders here is an indication of the international maritime community’s interest and desire to be involved in the maintenance of the Straits.

However, the real success of the Co-operative Mechanism framework will lie in its concrete implementation. We will need to translate our words into action. In the coming days, close collaboration and much hard work will be necessary to implement the various projects aimed at enhancing navigational safety and marine environmental protection in the Straits. Based on our interaction with the participating user States in preparing for the Co-operation Forum and Project Co-ordination Committee thus far, I am confident that further progress will be made. We should build upon the current momentum which we achieved and work even more closely together. I hope that, in addition to those that have already come onboard, other user states and stakeholders of the Straits will be encouraged to similarly support one or more components of the Co-operative Mechanism.

Before I conclude, I wish to thank Malaysia for hosting and organizing the inaugural events for all three segments of the Co-operative Mechanism this year. Singapore is deeply appreciative of the arrangements and warm hospitality extended by our Malaysian colleagues.

Let me now wish one and all a fruitful meeting ahead. Thank you.

REMARKS BY MR YURI GUNADI, DIRECTOR OF NAVIGATION,
HEAD OF DELEGATION INDONESIA
AT THE 1ST COOPERATION FORUM UNDER THE COOPERATIVE MECHANISM ON SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION IN THE STRAITS OF MALACCA AND SINGAPORE

HELD AT THE GRAND MILLENNIUM HOTEL, KUALA LUMPUR
27 TO 28 MAY 2008

Your Excellency, Datuk Ong Tee Kiat, Minister Transportation Malaysia

Dato’ Capt. Ahmad Othman, Head of Delegation of Malaysia

BG (NS) Tay Lim Heng, Head of Delegation of Singapore

Distinguished Ambassadors,

Distinguished representatives of organizations and all participants,

Ladies and gentlemen, very good morning to you all,

First of all, on behalf of the Government of the Republic of Indonesia, I would like to extend our highest appreciation to the Government of Malaysia for hosting this important first meeting of Cooperation Forum under the Cooperative Mechanism on Safety of Navigation and Environmental Protection in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore.

This first meeting is also a manifestation of active joint efforts and works done by the Government of Singapore and the International Maritime Organization whose support to this forum since it was declared for the first time in the Jakarta, Kuala Lumpur and Singapore Meetings is an endless work.

At this particular juncture, I would also like to extend my government warm welcome to all delegates attending this meeting and have once again showing their commitment and continuous supports to this forum of cooperation in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore.

Distinguished delegates, ladies and gentlemen,
Recalling what was agreed in the Singapore Meeting, the Cooperative Mechanism between Littoral States and User States and other user states on Safety of Navigation and Environmental Protection in the Straits comprises of three components, namely: the Cooperation Forum, the Project Coordination Committee and Aids to Navigation Fund. And the purpose of today’s meeting, the 1st Cooperation Forum, is to provide an avenue for littoral States, users States, users and other stakeholders to discuss and exchange views on issues relating to Safety of Navigation and Environmental Protection in the Straits of Malacca and Singapore.

Therefore, the proceed of the meeting is aimed to discuss common issues and explore more associated mutual cooperation through the agreed mechanism for the enhancement of Safety of Navigation and Environmental Protection in the Straits for a safe, secure and efficient shipping in cleaner ocean. We do believe that the expertise and experiences of delegates that are present today will be a great value to complement the mechanism and that cooperation in such field with any interested users may be enhanced.

It is our hope that this meeting would lead to a fruitful understanding and that will comply with the initiated framework of the Cooperative Mechanism as well as an intuitive input to the work of the Tripartite Technical Experts Group.

Distinguished Delegates, Ladies and Gentlemen,

This delegation is also of the view that the intention of this forum is to discuss and share, among others, valuable information and experiences that would enhance concrete efforts to establish mutual cooperation in the Straits since the Jakarta, the Kuala Lumpur and the Singapore meetings. Many infinite stances of efforts were made at those meetings and recognized as one of the most significant steps taken by stakeholders of the straits to respect and enhance many of principles regulations under the UNCLOS 1982. The Convention, of which was a monumental achievement of international community that second only to the Charter of the United Nations, and furthering to that achievement and efforts which was made in the later stages is now challenged to the level of being tested, whether or not it will stand the test of time.

This delegation and the Government of Indonesia, at this particular moment, would like to extend and share with the forum its deep concern over the said challenges that are intensively and systematically being introduced, advocated and exercised to redefine or even to rewrite the Convention, namely, the use of high seas legal regime in the territorial waters that will far reaching its implications and its area of concern.
The legal implication of this exercise of foreign jurisdiction in an area under the sovereignty of another coastal nation would lead to a dangerous precedent. In other words, the right to control territorial waters of one independent state by foreign powers that is also a dangerous precedent. When the presence of foreign powers coming from different legal systems conducting policing operations in the territorial waters of other state, there are issues of due process of law, evidentiary tests, prosecuting procedures, judicial procedures and execution of sentence that will create more complications and dangerous precedents. The list of concerns is endless.

Indonesia, since its commitment to the purest implementation of the Convention, and along with other littoral states, will fully respect all interests, in particular, keeping the unilateral use of the straits of Malacca and Singapore open for international navigation. All efforts were made along the line with other littoral States, user states and other stakeholders that would keep that efforts way open and implemented as it is intended and regulated by the Convention. This forum is one of the said intentions that focusing to the important of building mutual cooperation under the comfort-ability of all stake holders, and at the same-time respects the existing international law.

Distinguished delegates, ladies and gentlemen,

In this particular moment, my delegation conveys our support of any efforts initiated by this forum to improve the meaning of a concrete cooperation between Littoral States and Users States. In addition, I would also like to reiterate my government highest appreciation to the commitments and supports that have been rendered by user States under the framework of Cooperative Mechanism through Cooperation Forum, Project Coordination Committee and Aids to Navigation Fund. We believe that the time is indeed appropriate to have all commitments and full participations in sharing the burden of managing of the Straits materialized through a concrete way in areas where all are comfortable with.

Thank you.
